

PRESS RELEASE

10.09.2009 | AIRBRIDGE CARGO TOOK CARE OF THE FIRST EVER RUSSIAN SPORT CAR – MARUSSIA.

On the 10th of September AirBridgeCargo Airlines have been honored with the opportunity to transport first ever Russian sport cars to the 63d International Motor Show IAA Cars in Frankfurt/Main.

3 brand new cars which have been tenderly named as “Marussia” were safely delivered on one of the scheduled flights from ABC’s Moscow hub in Sheremetyevo to Frankfurt. Among 11 weekly flights to Frankfurt Marussia’s parents could choose the most suitable in terms of timing and day. Understanding the value of unique car-transformers AirBridgeCargo as always paid particular attention to every step of transportation. The cars safely landed in the biggest German airport on the 10th of September, 7 days prior to the show.

IAA - Internationale Automobil-Ausstellung is the biggest car show which takes place every 2 years in Frankfurt in the middle of September. Marussia’s first night was very successful despite the competition from such giants as BMW, Lexus, Citroen, Peugeot and many others. The car which is going to be manufactured in one of Moscow’s plant is expected to participate in world championship FIA GT in 2010.

Marussia’s delivery is another good example in the series of cars’ transportation performed by AirBridgeCargo, which operates 23 weekly flights to/from Europe (Frankfurt, Amsterdam, Maastricht and Milan). The sport cars were trucked home after the show was over.
